A maze is an intricate series of obstacles designed to test the ability of those who accept its challenge. The maze is a universal symbol which represents a variety of concepts. The Ancient Greeks, Egyptians, and Indians have given us insight to its definition, but its modern application is ours to explore. Some might even say that John F. Kennedy High School fits the definition . . .

AN AMAZING MAZE. There is a beginning and an end to high school. In order to successfully complete high school the student must overcome a certain number of obstacles; homeroom teachers, hall monitors, parking attendants, tests, homework, and SATs, to name a few. On occasion the student accidentally chooses the wrong path. He then finds himself deeper in the labyrinth or at a dead end. However, it is rare for a student to give up on something that he wishes to accomplish. The student must now choose another path to follow in order to reach his goal . . . a diploma.

In John F. Kennedy High School, the student's main objective is to successfully complete the puzzle. The chance to obtain an education and to enjoy himself is the student's option. If he accepts the test of skill and survives until the end, he can accomplish anything he desire.

It's amazing, isn't it, to think that you, the 1987 graduate, have solved the puzzle of high school, and that you have successfu ly completed the maze.

Dedication

Who is always smiling?
A smile from ear to ear.
Who is always laughing?
Bringing all good cheer.
Who is the king of the psychic mind?
Who is loveable and huggable, and one-of-a-kind?
It's Mr. Shaper that this book is dedicated to,
A simple thank you and goodbye just won't do.
So for all that you are, and all that you've done,
This one's for you —

You have added that special dimension of Concern, with your ability to create a more appealing
Outlook on learning. Students have left your classes
With the feeling that they have gained an incredible
Amount of knowledge, all attributed to you, Shapes.
We want you to know how much joy you have Brought to so many lives over the years.
And, now we are losing this wonder of a man,
Teacher, friend, and colleague. When you go, a part of Kennedy H.S.
Will go with you, but your spirit will endure here forever.
We offer you our sincerest wishes, for a most enjoyable,
Healthy, and happy retirement.
We love you, we will miss you, and we will Never forget you, Richard Shaper.
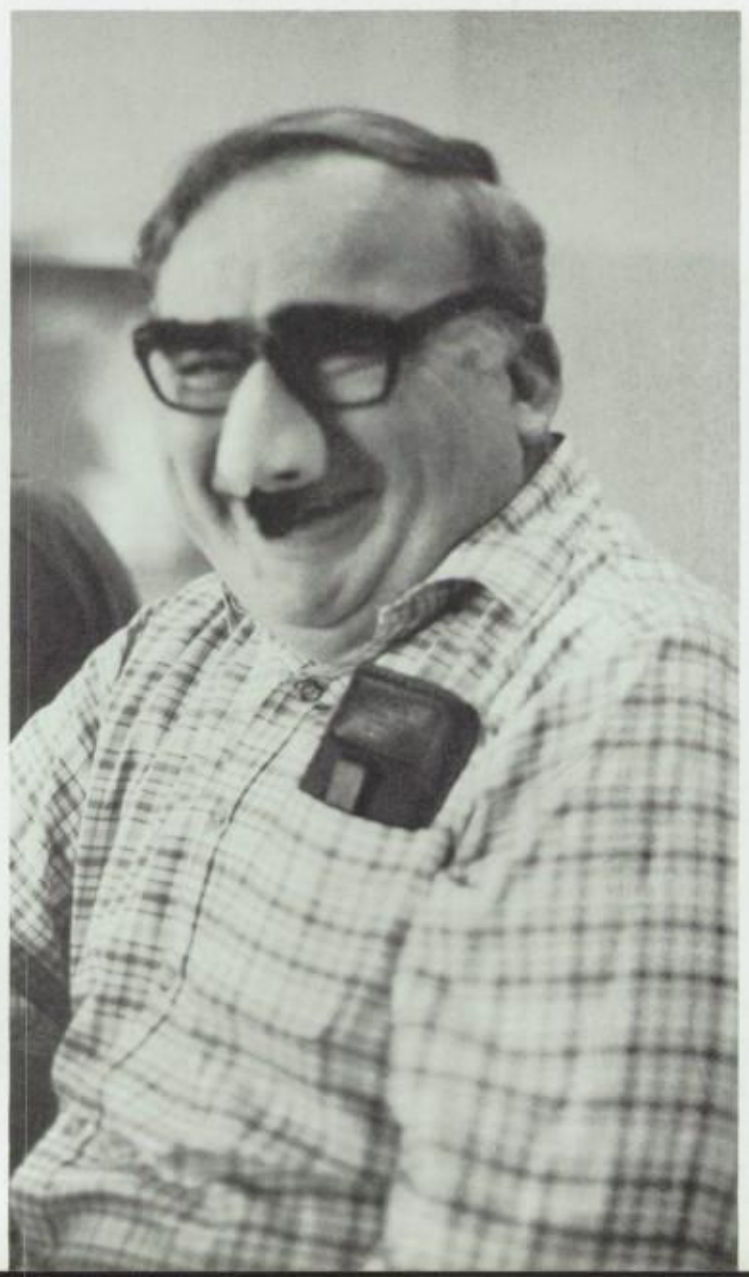
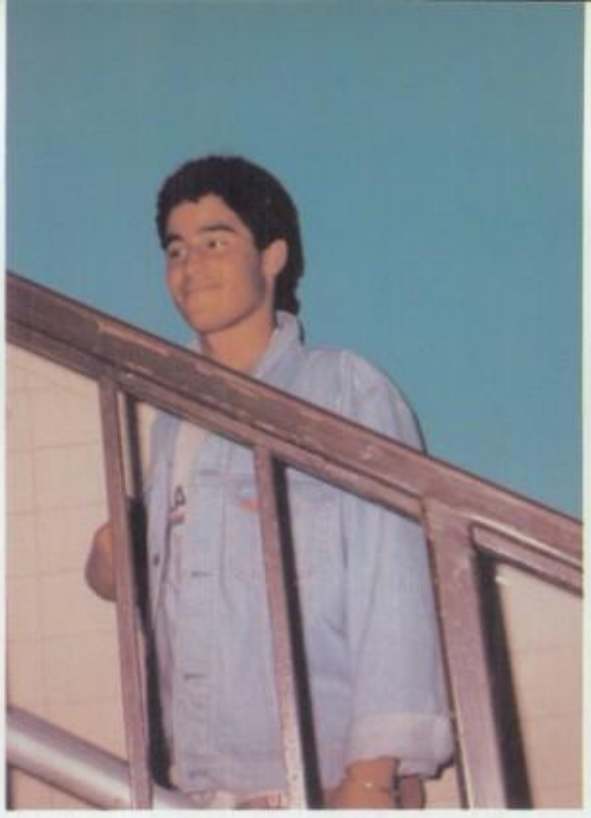
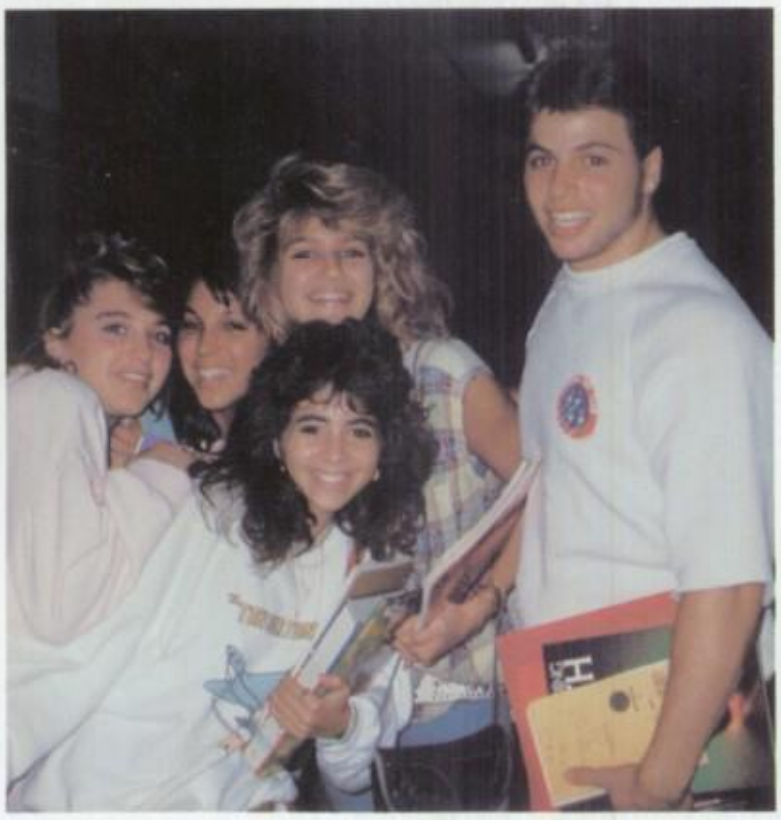
With love —
Your friends and family at J.F.K.







FACULTY

Teachers are considered the obstacles in our lives. They are the people who bring unto us all of our grief: homework, tests, term papers, and sometimes failing grades. We are detoured from the television set, telephone, and car keys to read a book of research a historical event. Some teachers even have enough nerve to give a surprise quiz on material we should have learned two weeks ago.

Whether we realize it or not, teachers are not always the hindrance in our lives. On occasion, they can be the mentors to advancement, and they do have an influence on our lives. Careful thought and planning go into each lesson, for they know that every word and idea has an impact on our impressionable young minds. Teachers assist us in finding our way along the winding road to adulthood.

Yet, because at this point in the labyrinth of life it is difficult to see what will occur at the end, we must evaluate what we have learned and what we should take with us on our journey. Okay, so maybe some of the lessons learned will only be useful on a game show, but others will help us to find our way through the maze, to realize our dreams, and to solve the puzzle.

A maze . . . defined as "a structure of winding and interconnected paths and passages arranged in bewildering complexity, so that without guidance it is difficult to find one's path in it." What a perfect metaphor to describe Kennedy High School.

At first glance the description is quite literal. To a new student arriving for that first orientation program preceding tenth grade, Kennedy High School and its hallways and dead ends must have seemed quite literally a maze to be negotiated with care and difficulty. Guidance came in the form of a complex diagram at the end of a student handbook and hopefully some friendly advice from a staff member or an older student.

But on a deeper level, Kennedy High School has been an even more intricate maze. Each of you has had to choose from a labyrinth of course selections and levels of difficulty. Social pressures and decisions waited at every turn, and each teacher presented a different array of challenges and responsibilities. Here too the maze could not be completed without the help and guidance of others. Teachers, counselors, aides, parents, administrators and even the custodial and clerical staffs offered the necessary direction to help you find your way.

And now you think you are approaching the end of this maze. As you will learn in the next few months, however, you have merely come to a new beginning. What seems at first to be an arrival at a final goal is really the opening of another doorway just as in the computer games where the resolution of one screen merely produces another more complex one.

During this lifelong adventure, I hope you will continue to have sound guidance and good fortune. I wish you the best of luck negotiating the increasingly complex maze that awaits you. Those of us who remain at Kennedy High School will be watching and cheering you on.

SCHOOL IS A LOT LIKE A MAZE

One day, I was walking down the hall and chewing some gum, when I got to thinking. "You know," I thought, "school is a lot like a maze. It's got hundreds of thin black lines running in all directions, and it's only fun when there's nothing else to do. Also it's much easier when you start at the end, and work through it backwards." I realized that none of this made, and quickly forgot about the whole thing. Then I spit out my gum.

Later that day, I was home watching my favorite show, "Eight is Enough" reruns on channel 11. I was completely unprepared for what was about to happen.

Dick Van Patten, (whose career, incidentally, has been red hot lately) as wise Mr. Bradford on the series, was lecturing his son, Tommy, who was threatening to drop out of high school. "You know, Tommy" said Dick, "school is alot like a maze. At first glance, it seems like an impossible challenge. When you start, it can be confusing. Even frustrating! But once you apply yourself you make progress. Who knows? You might even enjoy it! And you know what, Tommy? When you finish that maze, you're going to wish you could do the whole thing over again."

It was corny, but it was beautiful, and tears came streaming down my face. (By the way, Tommy decided to stay in school after all.) The very thought that I had been unable to develop my very own a few hours earlier had just been expressed so perfectly by a very special man. I sent Dick Van Patten ten bucks. He sent back a 5x8 glossy with his autograph stamped on the bottom.

Ultimately, An experience is only as valuable as what was learned as a result of it. From this, I learned one of the great truths of our era: school is alot like a maze. How do I know? Because Dick Van Patten said so, damn it!

UNDERCLASSMEN

Enter . . . a frightened fifteen year old walks slowly into the auditorium for orientation . . . Go slowly . . . Learn the way through the hallways . . . Take a good look around . . . The school seems as complex as a maze . . . There are so many paths to choose, ways to turn . . . Which direction should be chosen?

At sixteen, junior year, the road if clearer . . . The actual structure of the maze is as familiar as the back of your own hand . . . You know which way to go, but your not sure if it's always right . . . Stay home and study for Chemistry or go to the basketball game? Cram in a few S.A.T. words or watch General Hospital? Practice parallel parking or fail your road test . . . Just a few minor decisions in the life of a Junior . . . but these are the ones that prepare you for the exit . . . Only one more year to go and the maze is completed . . . The hardest part is over . . .

Senior Year will probably be fun and games!?!?!?

This year was a year of great change for the J.F.K. Band. The conventional thirty piece Concert Band and twenty-five piece Reperatory Band have grown to sixty and forty respectively. Under the direction of Mr. Smolensky, the band put on a great Winter Concert that saw the first standing ovation in the history of the school. This was an omen of good things to come. For example, in January, we went to the local elementary and junior high schools and performed for future Cougars. In February, our Long Island-renowned Jazz Band performed at a nursing home. In March, we played for the school musical, and in April and May we highlighted our year with an exchange trip to Amherst H.S. in upstate New York. Later, the Amherst Band came to J.F.K. to play with us. It was an experience that we'll never forget.

For all of these activities, we owe a great deal of thanks to our teacher, Mr. Smolensky, and our officers, who worked hard to make this year memorable. The Band wishes happiness, success, and good luck in all the endeavors of our graduating seniors.

ORCHESTRA

Although small in number, the Kennedy Orchestra sounded better than ever. Thanks to Mr. Laspisa, the conducter, whose patience, humor, and kindness have not only helped to improve the sound of the orchestra, but have made him one of the string players' most beloved instructors at Kennedy High School. With the lead of the talented Concert Mistress, Elena Ro, the Kennedy Orchestra will continue to improve and produce melodious music.

In its second year, Kennedy's FBLA Chapter is having a successful productive year. Ninety-one students joined the chapter as active members, a 300% increase over last year's enrollment. Officers are: Christine Gochuico, president, Dennis Adamovich, first vice-president, Costa Boutis, second vice-president, Jay Joel, treasurer, Kim Rapuano, secretary, Debbie Bavidson, historian, Jeremy Katz, parliamentarian, Jason Sobel and Todd Tome, Co-reporters. Dennis is also FBLA state vice-president; he was elected to this position by Nassau County chapters.

The chapter hosted the Nassau Fall Leadership Conference on October 8 — ten chapters visited Kennedy for an informative career program.

A visit to Nassau County Medical Center's pediatrics ward was made to distribute holiday cheer.

Competitions in business law, accounting, and secretarial subjects will be held in February on the county level. A fashion show and field trip are also planned for March and April.

The John F. Kennedy High School chapter of the national organization Students Against Drunk Driving had another successful year. As one of our largest and most active clubs, it sponsored and participated in many community and scholastic events. Perhaps it most significant contribution is its distribution of the "Contract for Life." This paper, signed by the student and his or her parents states that in the event the parent or child has had too much to drink, he or she will not drive, or get into a car with someone who has been drinking. The work of this vital organization is greatly appreciated, as it serves to remind us to "DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE!"

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government represents Kennedy High School in an array of district and community committees dealing with regulations, school policy, educational philosophy, and the budget. Also, as in the past, we sponsored a homecoming dance, sports night, and class elections. Student Government also had successful fund raisers for charities such as the March of Dimes and the Muscular Distrophy Fund.

The Yorker Club is one of Kennedy's newest and most dynamic organizations. Over the past five years, under the direction of Mr. Daoust, it has grown from a fledgling club to a leader not only in our school but in Long Island and New York State as well. Not "just a history club", the Yorkers set up and participate in fund raisers, community service activities, and inter-club meetings, starting with the leadership conference in the fall and leading up to the District Jamboree in the winter and the extremely popular and highly successful statewide convention in the spring, held this year in Buffalo. Each year the club's members win a number of awards for hsitory competitions, such as the History Bowl and the National History Day contests, as well as for club achievements and individual accomplishments. This year the Yorkers were actively involved also in raising funds for Cerebral Palsy and Down Syndrome centers, as well as in promoting both Homecoming (which was unfortunately rained out) and Drama Club productions. In the minds of the Yorkers, school and community always come first.

The Yorkers would like to take this opportunity to offer congratulations to the graduating class of 1987. We hope that you will serve your community, your state, and your country well.

KEY CLUB

This years Key Club consists of over sixty members. Mr. Wiener, in his first year as advisor, is doing a fine job organizing and helping the Key Club function both in Kennedy High School and in the rest of Long Island. The Key Club has performed various services for the community over the years and has continued to do so. This year, the Key Club has organized a basketball tournament benefitting the American Cancer Society, a drive to collect food for the United Nations Children's Fund, a blood drive, a Salvation Army fund raiser, and a scholarship drive. The Key Club is the largest club of its kind in the world existing in ten countries and having over 300,000 members. It is fitting therefore, that Key Clubs from different schools cooperate with each other. In keeping with this spirit, many members from our school's club have participated in Key Club functions throughout the state, including the annual state convention on March 20-22 in Fallsburg, New York.

The National Honor Society, an organization that recognizes the character, leadership, and academic and extracurricular accomplishments of high school students, swore in nearly 70 Kennedy High School pupils in May and December of 1986. Guest speakers Mrs. Kasper, who shared her beliefs about the value of education and service to the community for the sake of bettering yourself and others, and Mr. Thompson, who spoke of the need for the educated to pass on their knowledge and expertise so others may benefit, enlightened students, administration, and invited guests at the May and December inductions respectively.

However, National Honor Society is more than just the inductions. Through the outstanding guidance of Mrs. Karasik, the members continued the tradition of tutoring fellow students and acting as an integral part of many other functions at Kennedy High School.

This season was an historic one for the Kennedy Debate team. To the great surprise of everyone involved, the debators finally surpassed the basketball team as Kennedy's team with the most student fan support. For members of the team this has meant intense pressure to succeed, but ultimately, an infinitely gratifying experience.

At the first tournament of the season in Hewlett, a record 211 Kennedy students showed up to cheer on the team. This was totally unexpected, as Debate had never been much of an attraction in years past, and pre-tournament publicity had been minimal. Still, the debators loved having the fans around, as their every point was met with wild applause while opponents were booed and heckled. When J.F.K. partners Brian Stettin and Joel Tabin finished first in the Varsity division, the exalted crowd and other debators carried them home on their shoulders. The empty team bus was driven back to the depot.

By the second tournament in Kings Park, Debate team hype had whipped the school into a frenzy. The J.F.K. fans arrived in droves. As the first round got underway, an incredible 87% of the student body was in attendance.

This level of support was maintained throughout the season. As students grew to understand debate, so grew their love for the game. Now, it's not uncommon to see students engaged in casual scrimmage debates in the parking lot or locker rooms.

It's refreshing to see the youth of America embracing more cerebral pursuits. Perhaps someday in the not-too-distant future, the fifty states will follow JFK's example, and debating will become the uncontested national pastime.

This year, it was the objective of the Cougar Crier to incorporate in its articles as many aspects of Kennedy High School as possible. Most importantly, we attempted to develop a publication that would attract more readers within the student body. From sports articles to updates on honors and awards, to features on particular students and teachers, we believe we far surpassed the school newspapers of recent years.

Contrary to popular opinion, Magnum Opus is not the name of a penguin who runs a private investigative agency in Hawaii. Actually, Magnum Opus is a slightly pretentious Latin phrase meaning "great work," and it is also the title of Kennedy's literary magazine. Over the years, the members of Magnum Opus have tried to live up to that name by submitting their best samples of poetry and short stories for distribution to their fellow students. This year has been no exception, with creativity and originality (or at least clever borrowing, but never direct plagarism) the words the writers always keep in mind. And be they symbolic or silly, like abstract art or like doctoral dissertations, the works are never, ever boring.

NEVER! (Even if we have to capitalize all the letters in a word or two once in a while to keep it interesting).

The members of Magnum Opus would therefore like to salute the spirit of inventiveness and distinctiveness that marks the Class of 1987. May you forever maintain that spirit in the face of an ever more uniform world.

SPORTS

Being a gym teacher has never been a glamorous job. Gym teachers, for the most part, are not millionaires. It is unlikely that a T.V. miniseries will ever be made about gym teachers. All that is too bad, because it is the gym teachers of this country that made Americans what they are today: Better at the shuttle run than the citizens of any other civilized nation on Earth.

Perhaps it is time that we, as a nation, stop taking our gym teachers for granted, and recognize them as our greatest national resource — a label they clearly deserve.

Most prominently, the gym teacher is responsible for what is surely the most important set of records in any school. In his files are all of our times in the 50 yard dash and the mile, our distances in the broad jump, and the number of sit-ups each of us can do in one minute. I shudder to think of what might happen if the Soviets ever got their hands on this material. But with our gym teachers to get past first, I know this possibility is practically non-existent.

Almost as significant is the gym teacher's commitment to making each of us an Adonis-like specimen of physical strength. This zeal usually translates into gym classes so gruelling that we leave small puddles of sweat all over the gym floor. But after 15 or 20 jumping jacks, I don't mind being exhausted. I know I am a better person for having done them, and I have only my gym teacher to thank.

President Reagan has declared June 7 "National Gym Teacher Appreciation Day." Why not take this opportunity to buy your gym teacher a new pair of Keds?

Despite the addition of many new and inexperienced players, leadership, teamwork and sportsmanship kept the team competitive. Co-captain Jennifer Ettin was selected for the All-Division Team. Kennedy's Version of SNIGLETS

1) dor-tun-dra — the act of being unable to open a staircase door because of the five ton weight in it.

2) spiral-itis — walking through the hallway knowing the next person with a spiral notebook will get caught on your new Benetton sweater.

3) gooy-gumbia — always thinking that the gum under your desk will fall on your lap and leave a lasting impression.

4) shuff-hall-shift — the act of moving left and right ten times before actually being able to pass the person in the hall, standing in front, doing the same dance.

5) holy-°#°$-itis* — the fear of going to the bathroom and realizing there's no toilet paper left.

6) search-ology — the act of searching your desk for answers before taking a test.

7) embara-staira-phobia — the fear of walking into the wrong classroom and having everyone look at you.

8) ivid-pivid — walking the wrong way down the hall and casually trying to turn when you realize people are looking.

9) swivil-ary — the act of weaving around twenty people standing still in the middle of the parking lot.

10) ara-jama — trying to walk up the stairs when a parade of people are trying to go down the same staircase.

11) ear-jack-ary — the nervous condition of using a tape recorder in the Spanish resource center and hoping the earphone plug is in, so as not to blast your Spanish and startle the whole room.

12) quibble-obia — trying to hold back laughter when the teacher in front of the room has chalk all over his or her face and body.

13) snag-op-athy — running from hall to hall, up and down stairs, so as not to bump into a hall monitor who will inevitably ask for a pass, which you don't have.

14) sadness — the fear of leaving all your friends and having to start anew life after high school.

ACTIVITIES

COURTYARD BEAUTIFICATION

Brad Parker digging for bones.

No pictures. No one would believe them anyway. Marni Schefter.

Well, how were we supposed to know you're not supposed to rake up the grass?
Marni Schefter, Jodi Kula and Lara Koniak

The man behind the movement. Mr. Carter

The truth is at first we thought the administration was kidding . . . Courtyear beautification . . . Were they serious? Yes, they were serious . . . Courtyard beautification was an attempt to clean up the courtyard for the students' use. Students volunteered their extra time to help trim and rake the grass and shrubs. This was truly a phenomenon in Kennedy history.

CLASS NIGHT

Whatever it is, will it help us to win?

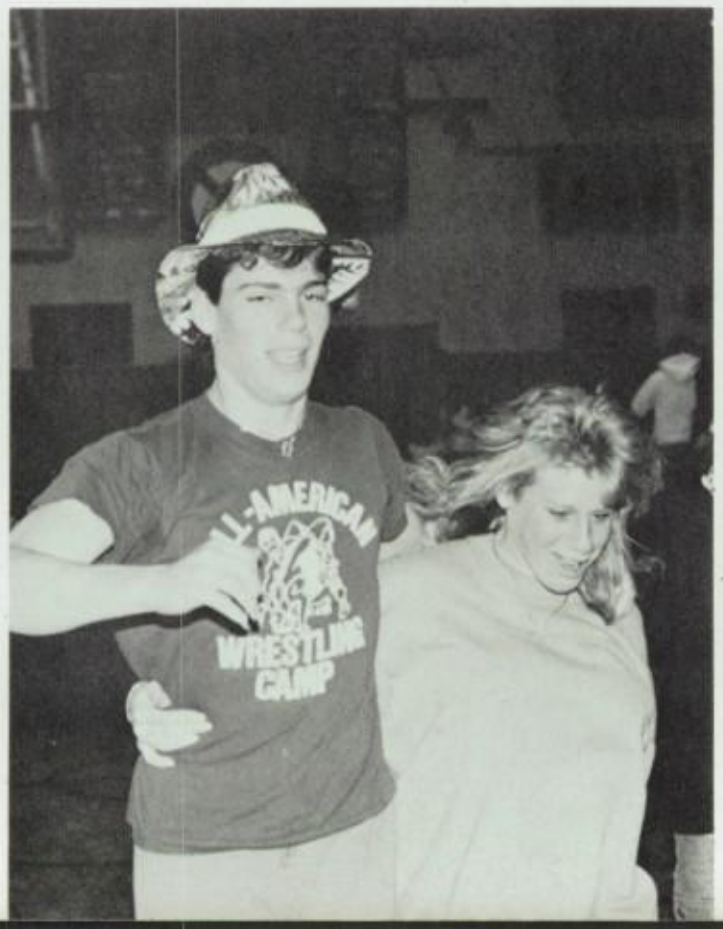
"What do you mean I have a hole in my shirt? Marc Rabkin.

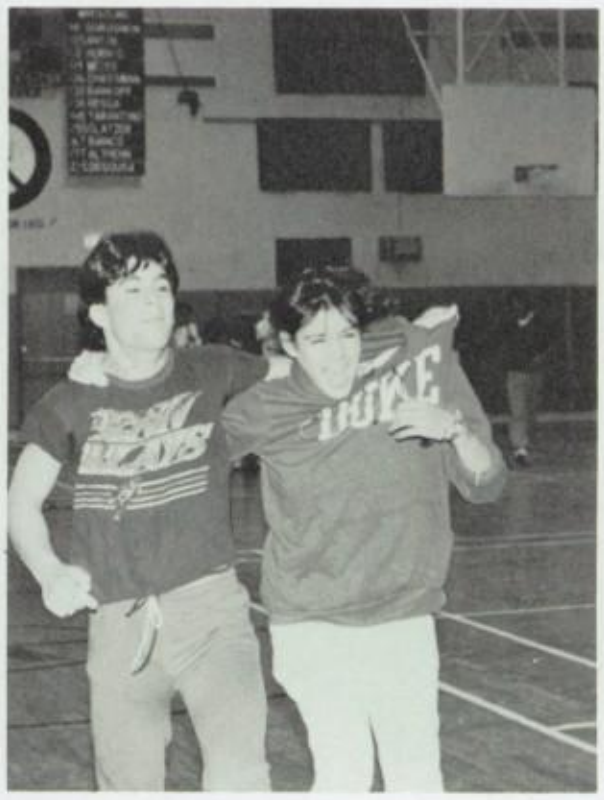
The Seniors came through in the end. Class Night wouldn't be Class Night if they didn't. There was no chance that anyone would stand in their way toward victory. The relay races, obstacle courses and Family Feud were no challenge to the undefeatable in spite of the attempts made by the other classes. The turnout was great and the excitement was high. Everyone had an AMAZING time, but the Seniors had the best time of all.

O.P. Isn't that the kid on T.V. with red hair and freckles? Lisa Greenberg

"Michelle, you're squeezing too tight." Steven Barkoff

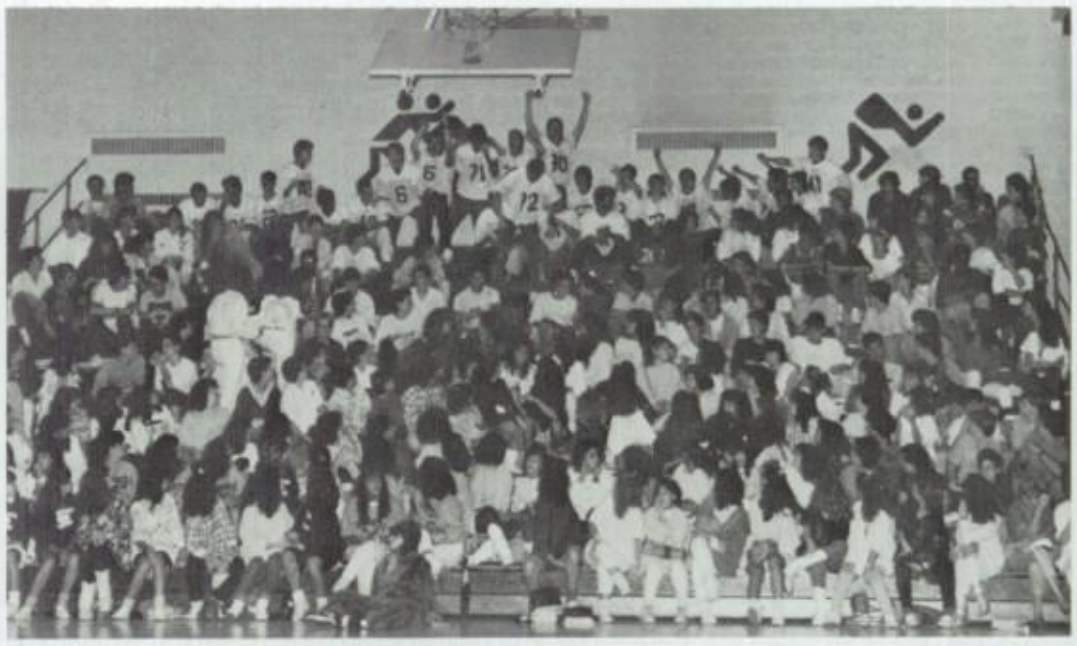
Jay Joel and Barrie Isaacson

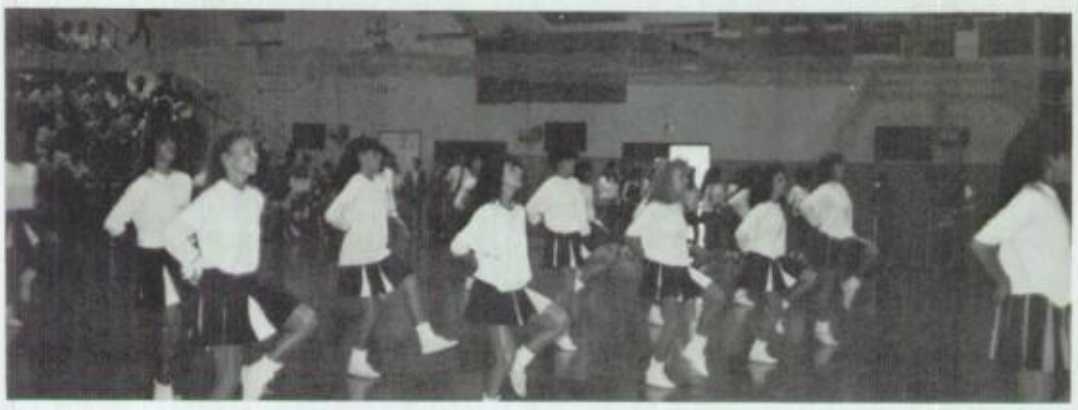


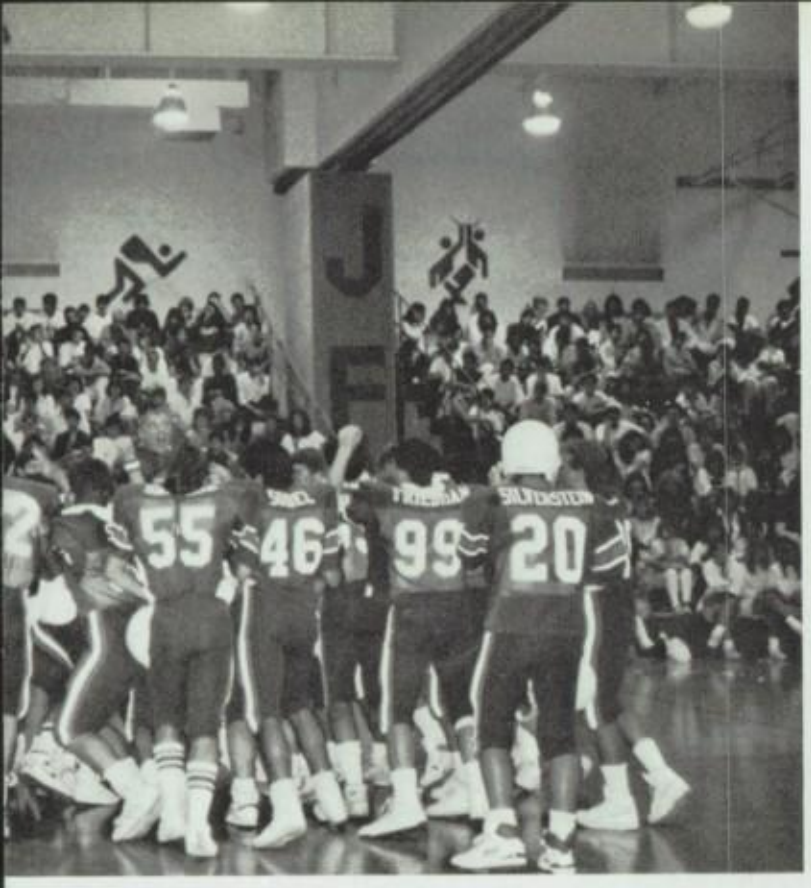


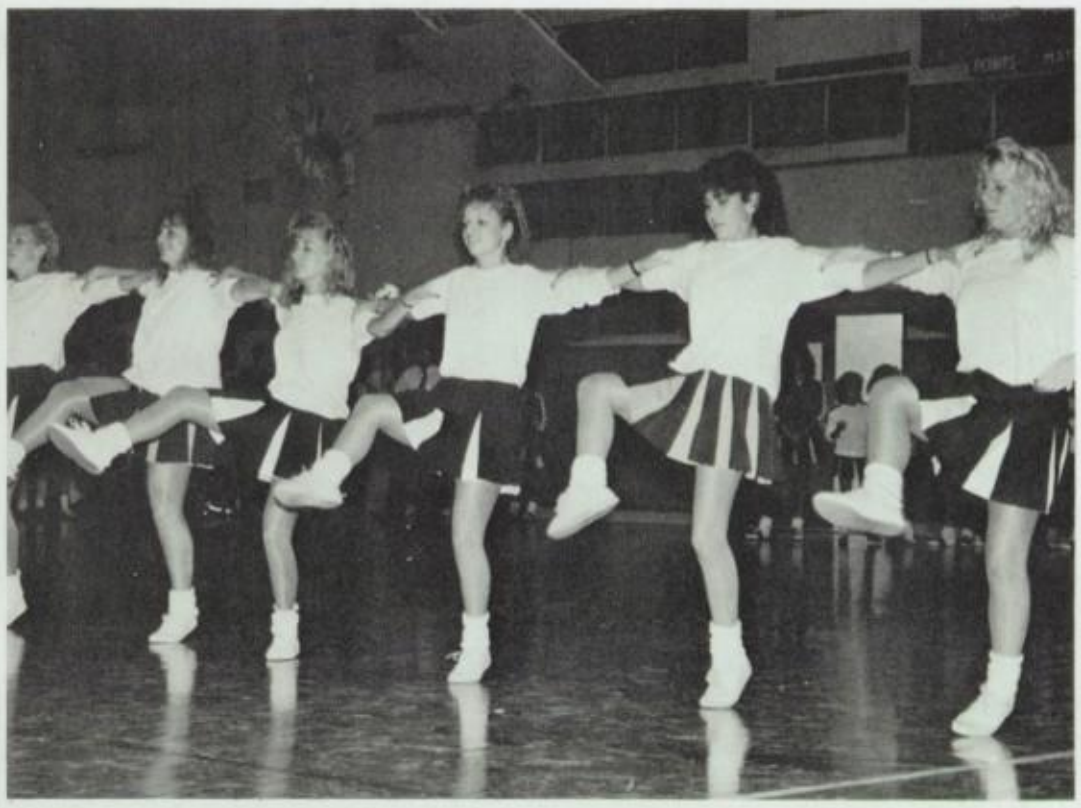
"Ouch, Jeff!" Jeffrey Cohen, Lisa Greenberg

PEP RALLY









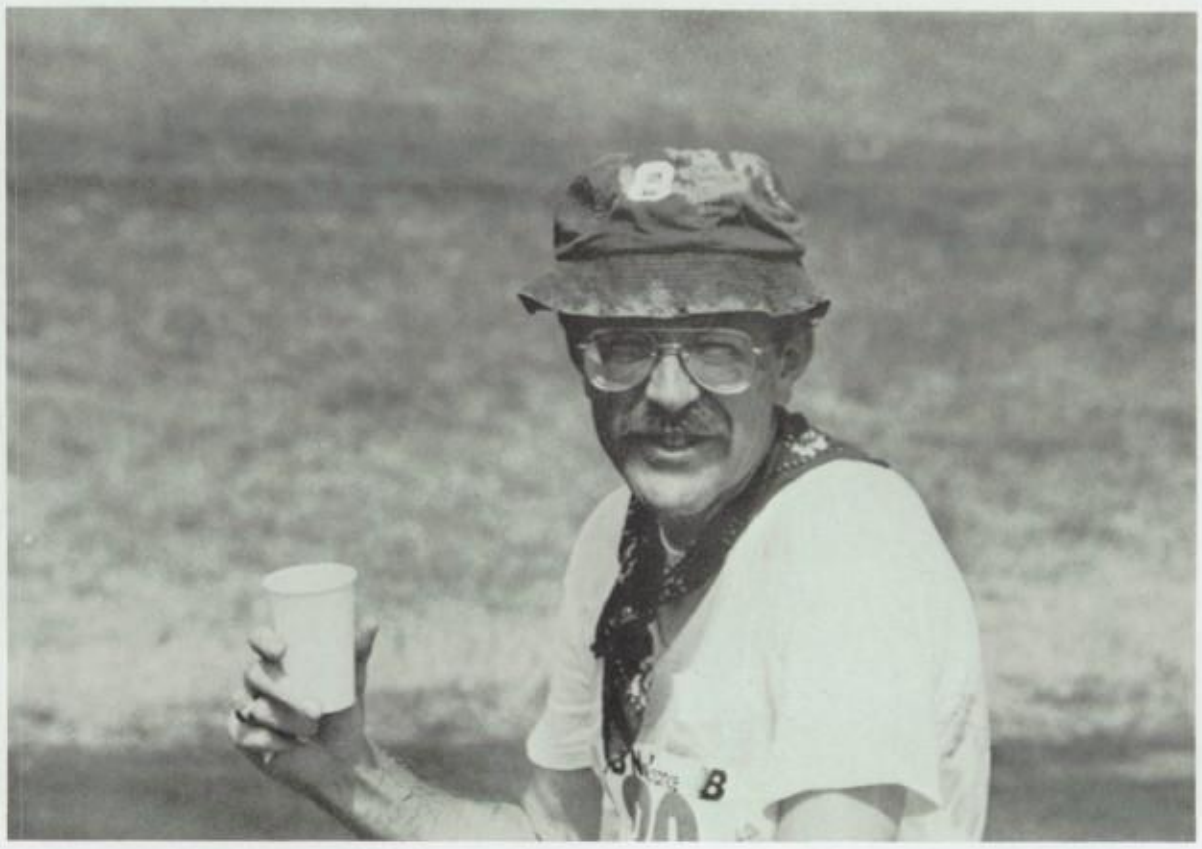
It was 2:01 on Friday afternoon. The excitement could be felt everywhere. Kennedy students filled into the gymnasium for the semi-annual Pep Rally. The cheers, the music and the voice of Mr. Berkowsky filled the air as we awaited the introduction of the 1987 teams. Will this year be different? Is it possible to have a successful football team or another undefeated season in basketball? More important than winning, will the Kennedy student body have the school spirit to encourage these teams to victory. "Yes", was the reply. "This year will be an AMAZING year."

FRUIT SALE

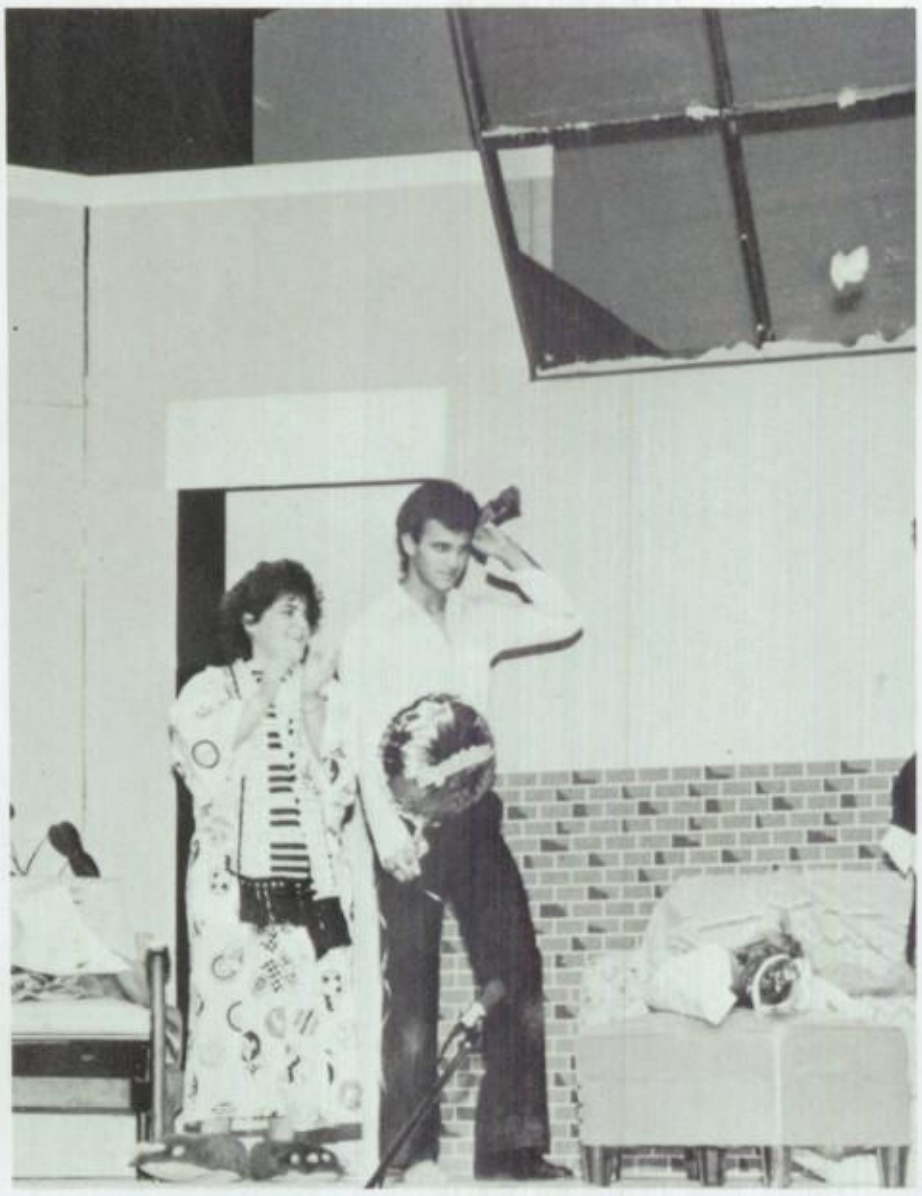
The Kennedy Music Department kept up its tradition of selling fruit this year. Oranges and grapefruits were sold by members of the band, orchestra, chorus and choir in order to raise funds for such activities as exchange trips and visits to various nursing homes. A record amount of money was raised to further the efforts of the department in its effort to foster music appreciation in both the school and the community.

Run — Walk-A-Thon

It was a hot and muggy May morning. Many of Kennedy's students and faculty awoke at the ungodly hour of 9:00 am. But, this was a morning to sacrifice an extra hour of sleep in order to raise money for the children affected with Downs Syndrome. There were prizes to be given, and people to cheer on. Feelings of school spirit and pride reigned as the participants ran or walked around the track.



DRAMA CLUB

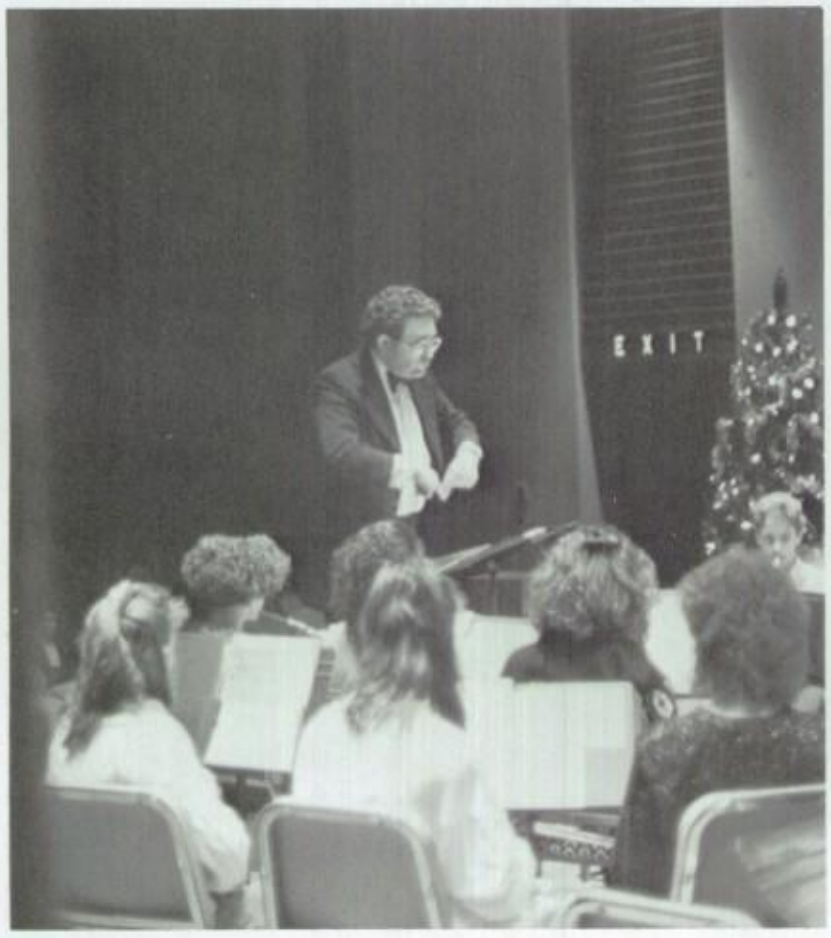


The drama club performs two shows each year. In November, the drama club presented Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park". The lead roles were played by Stewart Grabelsky, Shari Goldstein, Jason Pascal, and Jodi Santora. The musical "Hello Dolly" was presented in the spring. The Drama Club is led and directed by Mr. Smolensky. Congratulations to all who are involved for two very successful productions.

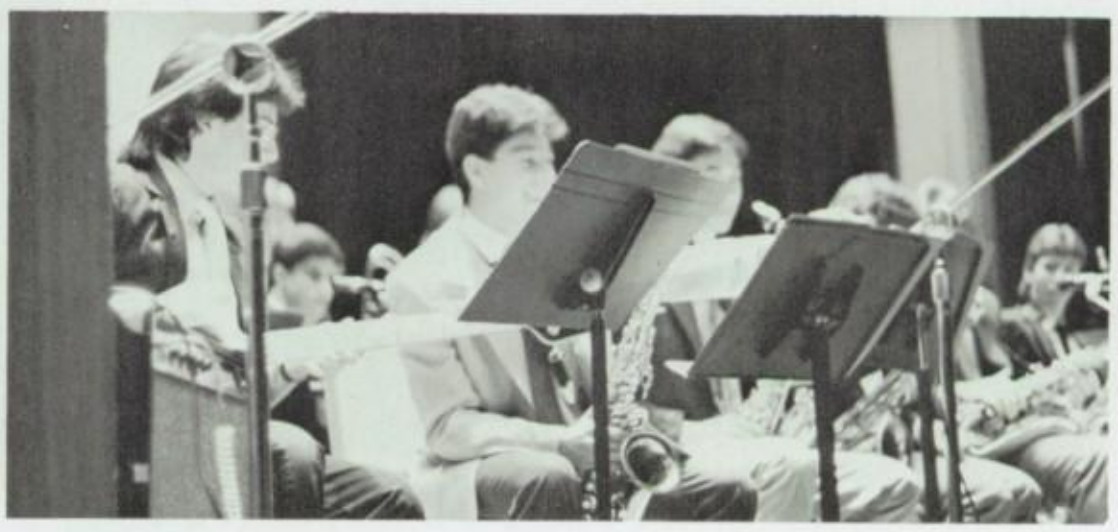
WINTER CONCERT

The John F. Kennedy Music Department Presents . . . A Winter Concert

On Wednesday night, December 17th, the Music Department presented the results of its hard work and dedication. The string ensemble opened the evening's festivities, offering four well-performed pieces. The chorus, not to be outdone, swelled the auditorium with its melodious strains.



EXI



HOMECOMING

One might ask what makes the 1986 Homecoming events different from past years. The student body apathetically voted for the King (Craig Farbman), Queen (Christine Senatore), Prince (Uri Kushner), and Princess (Kathy Dichter), who later reigned over an uninspiring dance. Furthermore, as luck would have it, our usual parade, featuring the Kennedy band and floats from various clubs, was rained out. But, was this an omen that the usual course of events was going to change? It most certainly was, as Kennedy's spirited, yet reputedly unsuccessful football team, overcame inclimate weather and what some may call fate to decisively defeat McBernie. Many thanks to the cheerleaders, kickline, band, and spectators for supporting the football team, raising school pride, putting us back on the road to successful seasons, and making the 1986 Homecoming one that will truly be a milestone in Kennedy High School history.

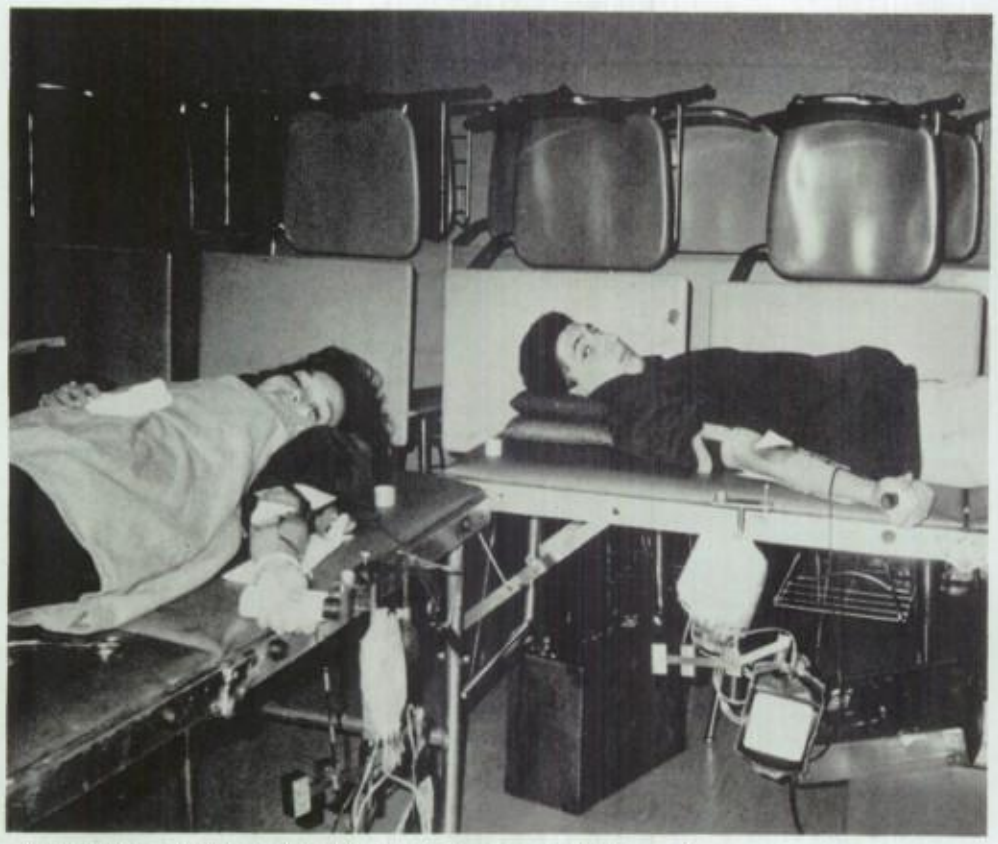
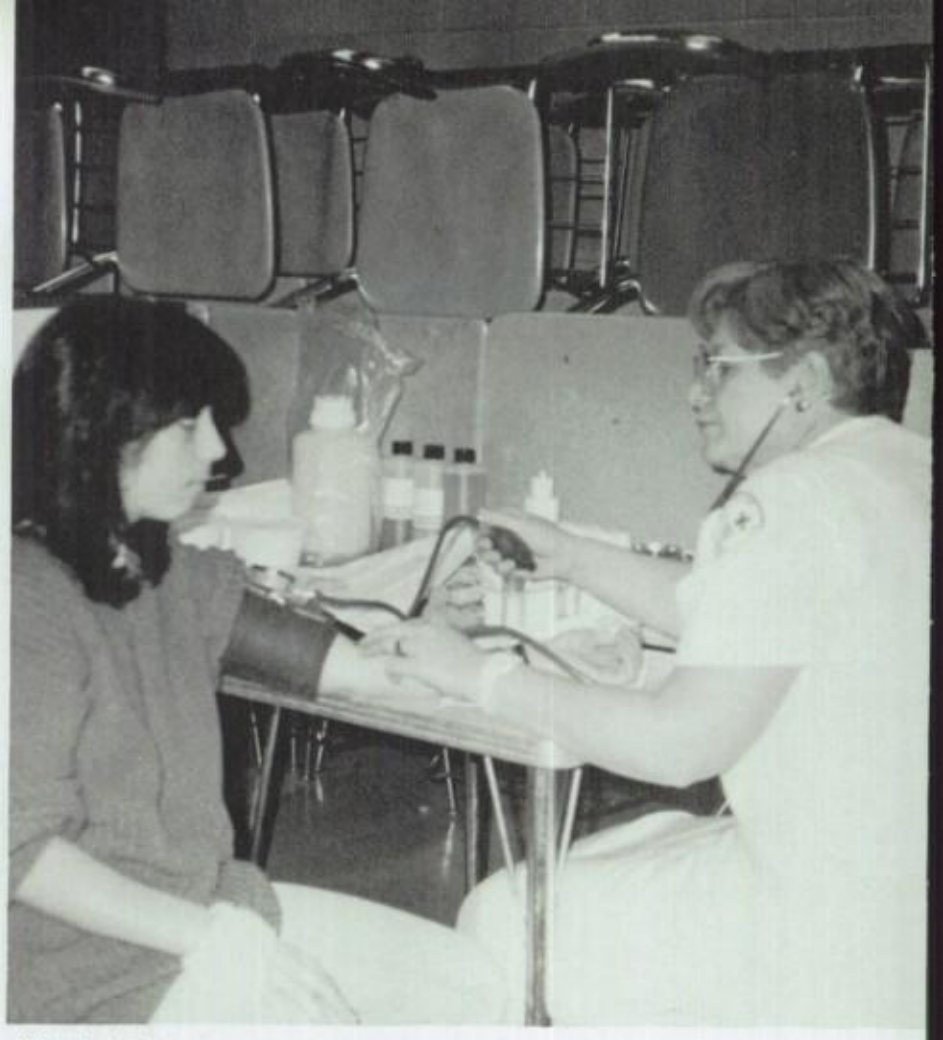
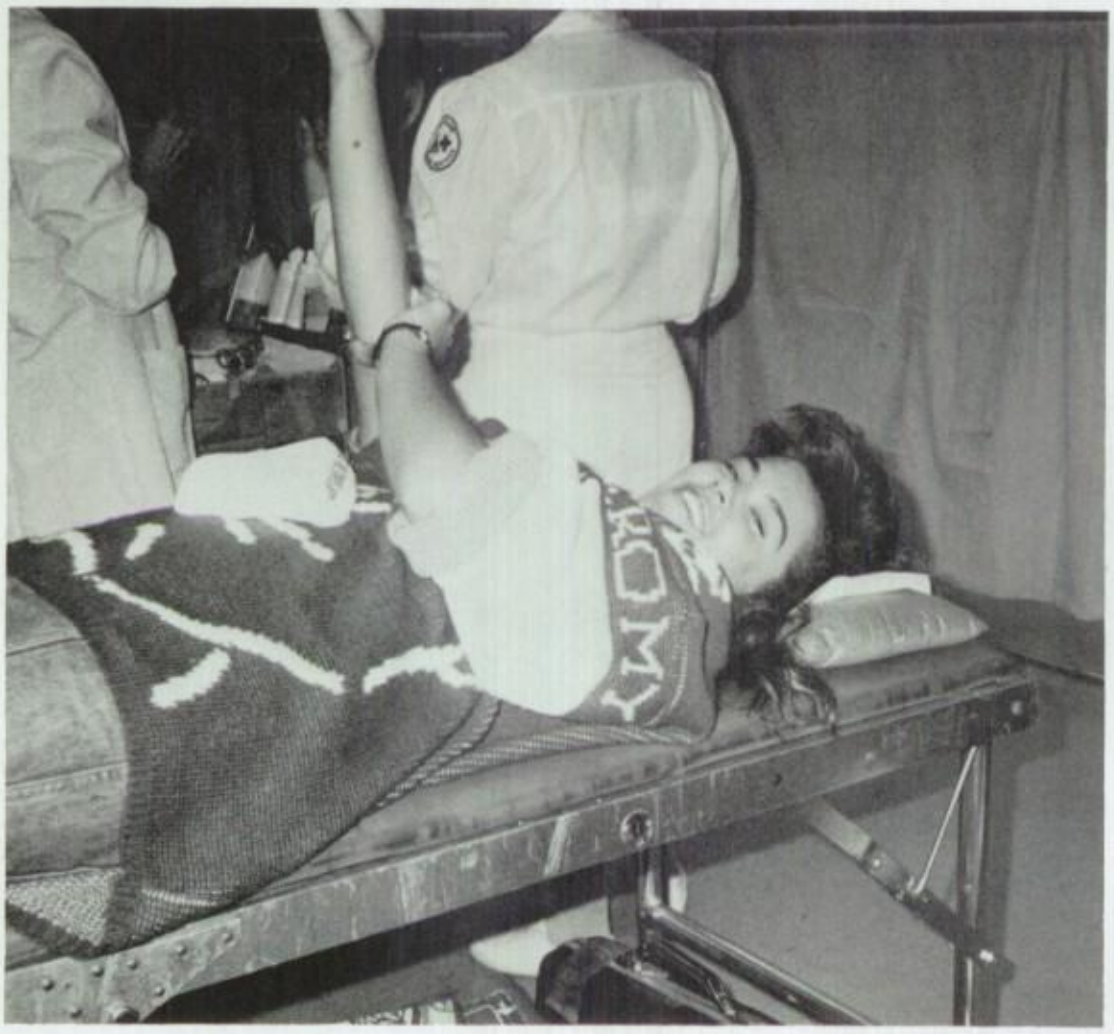
BLOOD DRIVE



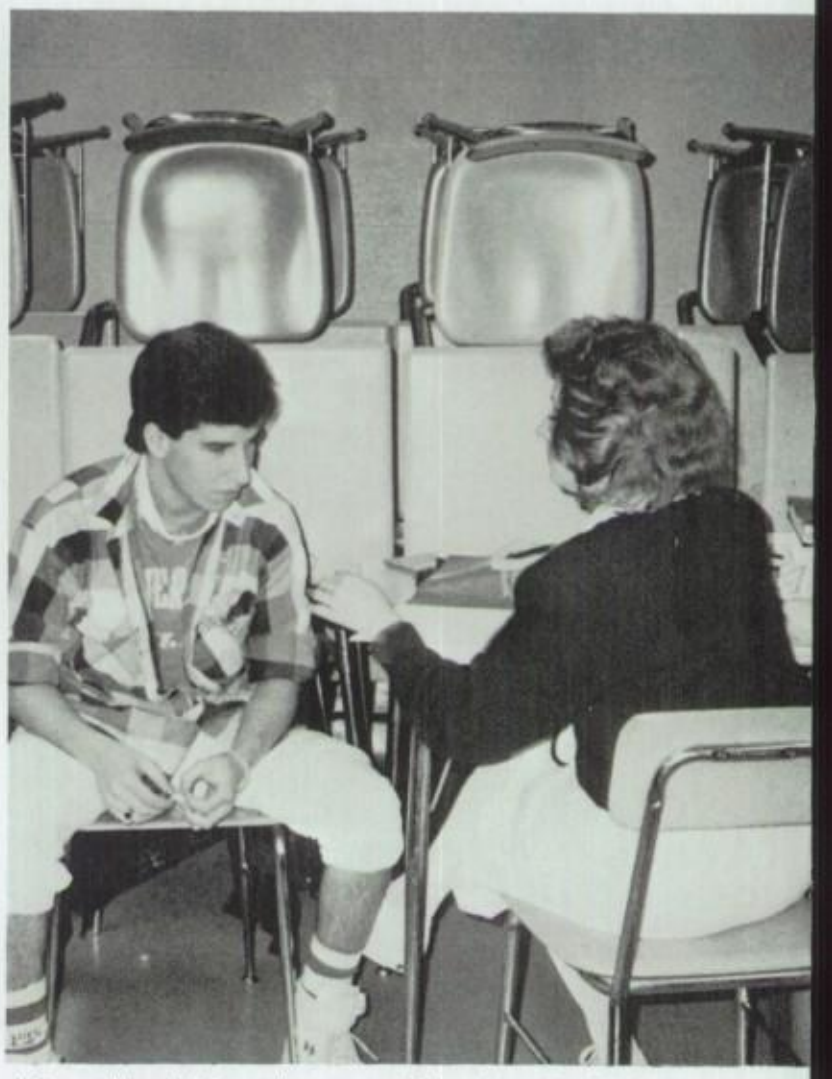
"This is how Frankenstein was created, wasn't it? . . . "



"No, I don't feel a thing." Lisa Cohen



"In ten minutes English will be over and I can get out of here." Shari Goldstein



"My mother told me there would be days like this."

On Thursday, February 12, the Key Club invited those students 17 years and older, weighing at least 110 pounds, to participate in the annual Kennedy High School Blood Drive. An impressive 72 pints of blood were collected. The students, as well as the staff that supervised, were surprised by the overwhelming response of the Kennedy students.

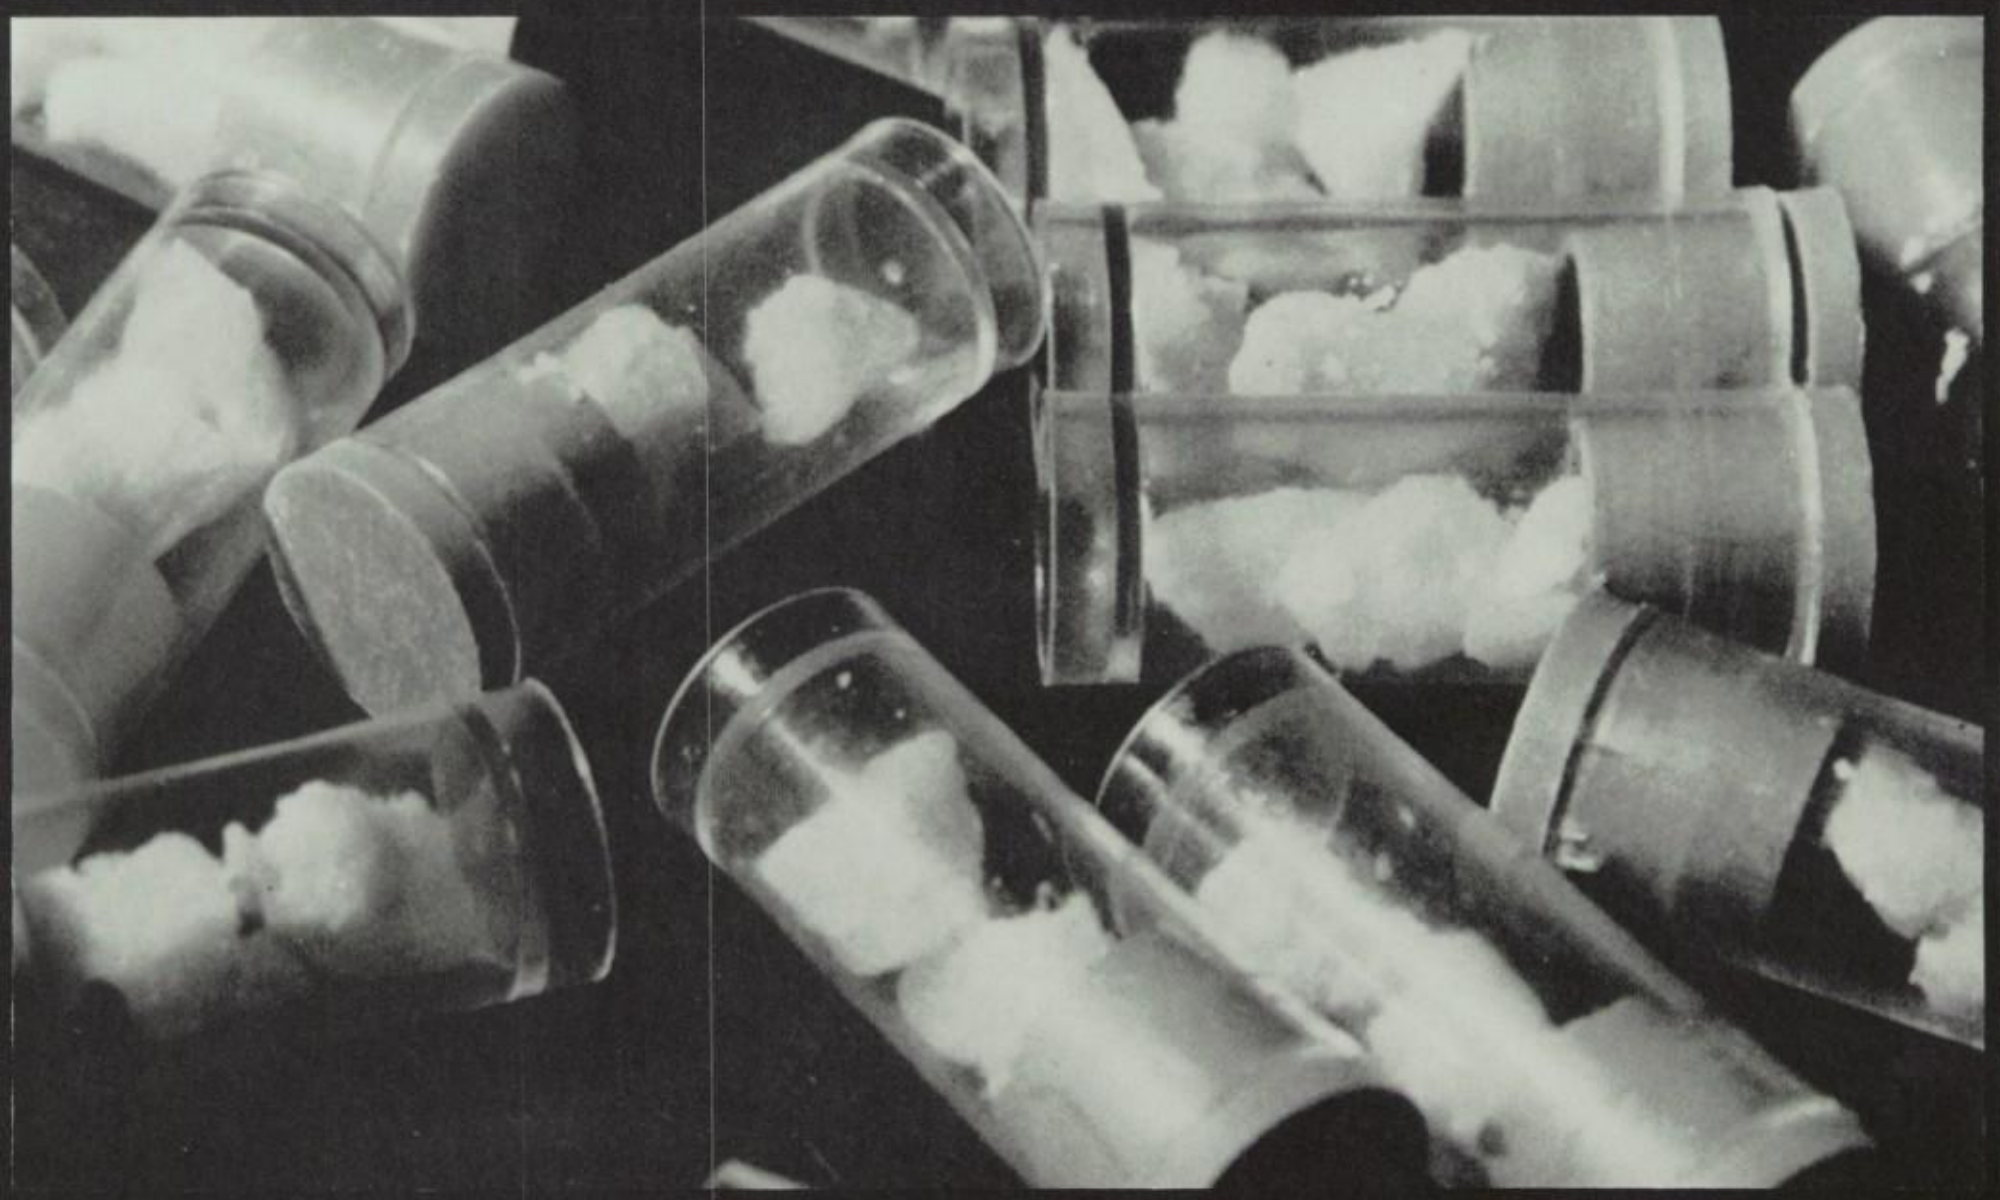
CURRENT EVENTS

The city of New York gave the Statue of Liberty a big 1986 bash — a Fourth of July festival of song, celebrities and fireworks honoring the great lady's first 100 years.

President Ronald Reagan ans Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev met in Reykjavik, Iceland, for a two-day summit in October to discuss arms control. The two leaders reached a impasse on testing of the U.S. Star Wars weaponry.

U.S. Air Force and Navy jets attacked five targets inside Libya under cover of darkness in April, delivering a response to what President Reagan called the "monstrous brutality" of Libyan-backed terroism. (Among the targets was the Libyan Naval Academy, shown phot, located in a suburb of Tripoli.)

Congressmen Rostenkowski and Packwood talk after signing an historic tax reform bill, that will radically change the way we cheat on our taxes.



They call it "crack" on the East Coast and "rock" on the West Coast. Whatever its name, this refined, smokable form of cocaine may be the most addictive narcotic ever sold on the streets of America.

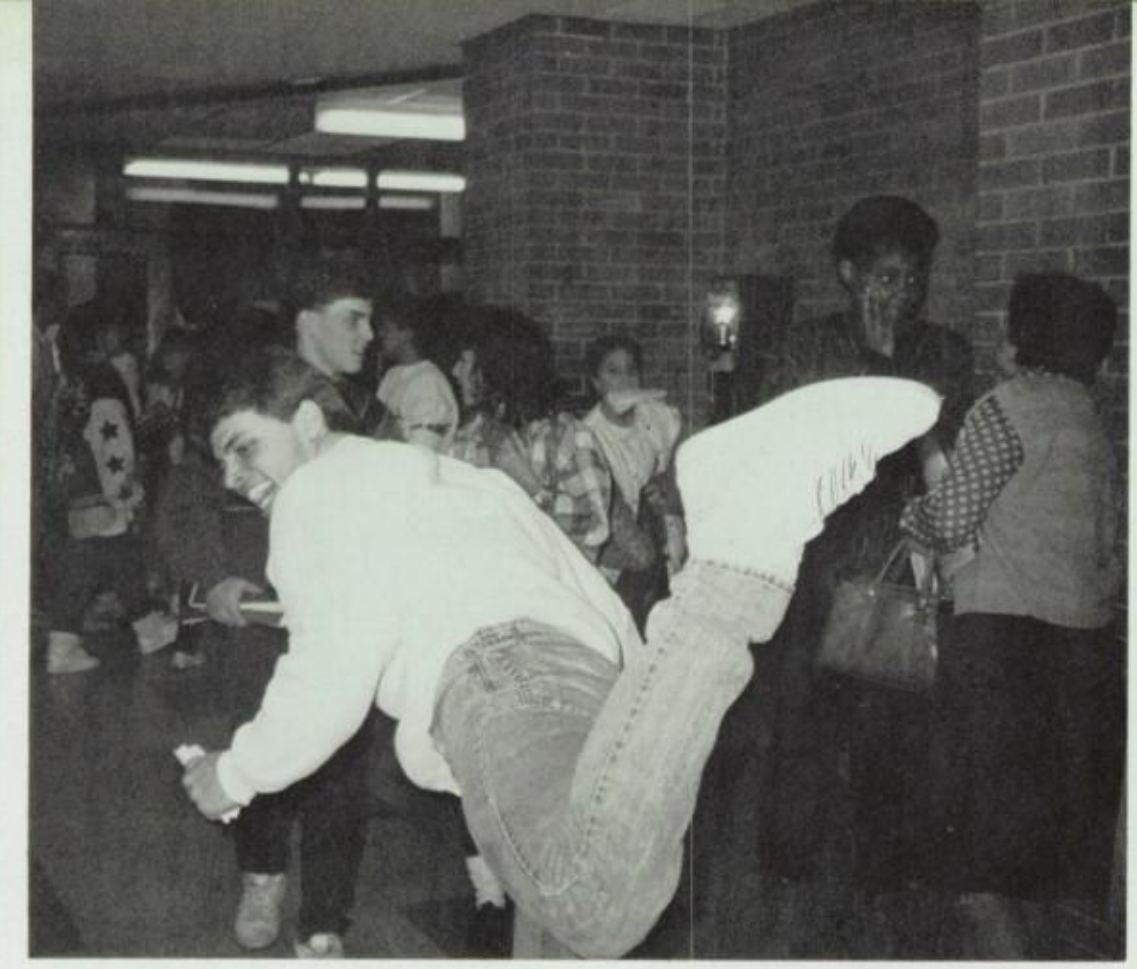
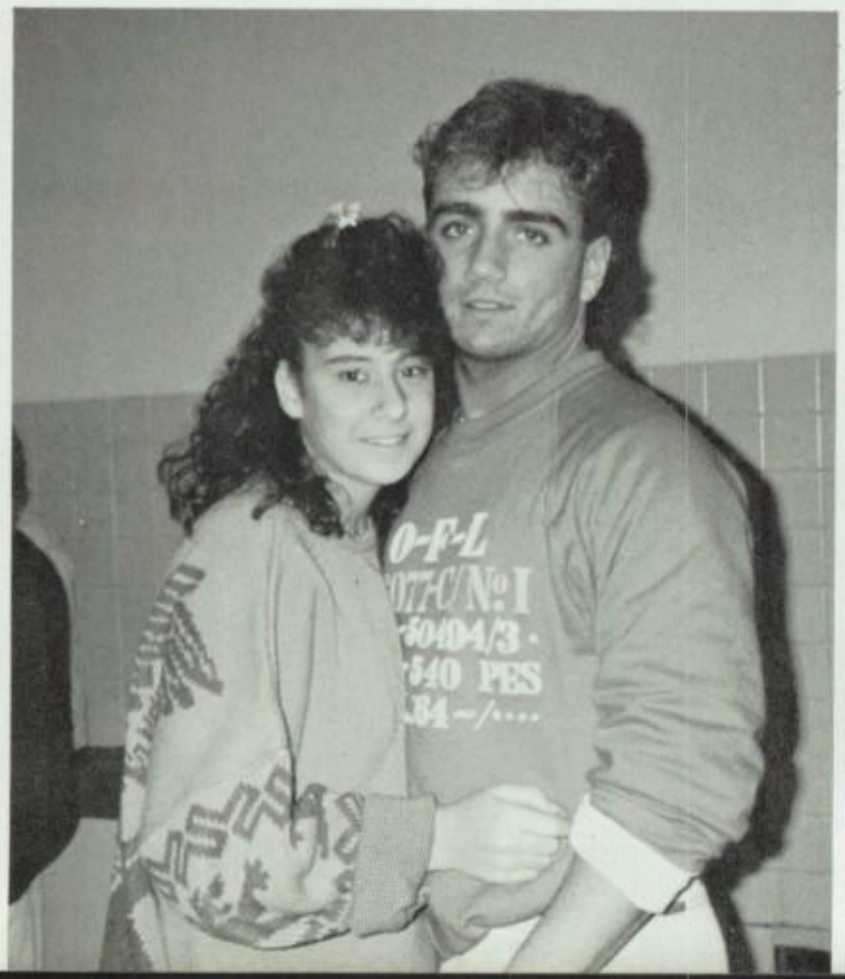
Arms for hostages? Swiss bank accounts? Diverted funds to the Contras? These are all questions that need to be answered and these four men might have some answers. So far they have been of no use as Poindexter and North have claimed the fifth. Regan has resigned and Casey has had brain tumor surgery.

CORAZON AQUINO

FERDINAND E. MARCOS

After 20 years of ruling without serious challenge, Phillipine president Ferdinand E. Marcos was forced from office amid changes of corruption and scandal. The new president, Corazon Aquino, was faced with political and economic turmoil.





SENIORS

Junior year. The end of the road. High School is complete; Senior year will be fun and games . . . Wait . . . Not so fast . . . Slow down . . . The detour sign was passed . . . There is another road to follow . . . And yes, it still carries responsibility. What a mistake to think the puzzle is solved. The November S.A.T.s are to be taken, applications need to be filled and more decisions have to be made. (Shall I get to Harvard or Yale? . . . Okay, so how about Maryland?)

Senior year . . . A real driver's license is a novelty and a changed one looks more real. The class of 1987 contains more 21 year old graduates than any before its time. (Remember that jerk that let us in that club

. . . So maybe he laughed . . . I got in, didn't I?)

Senior year . . . How many days of detention were received for leaving home three minutes late? . . . And how many days were actually served? How many hall guards asked for passes . . . and how many actually received them? Is the car okay? Hopping the fence second period probably destroyed it . . . The friendships we've shared, the fun we've had, the attacks of senioritis, and the times we made to remember . . . High school was not just a learning place, it was a place we will never forget.

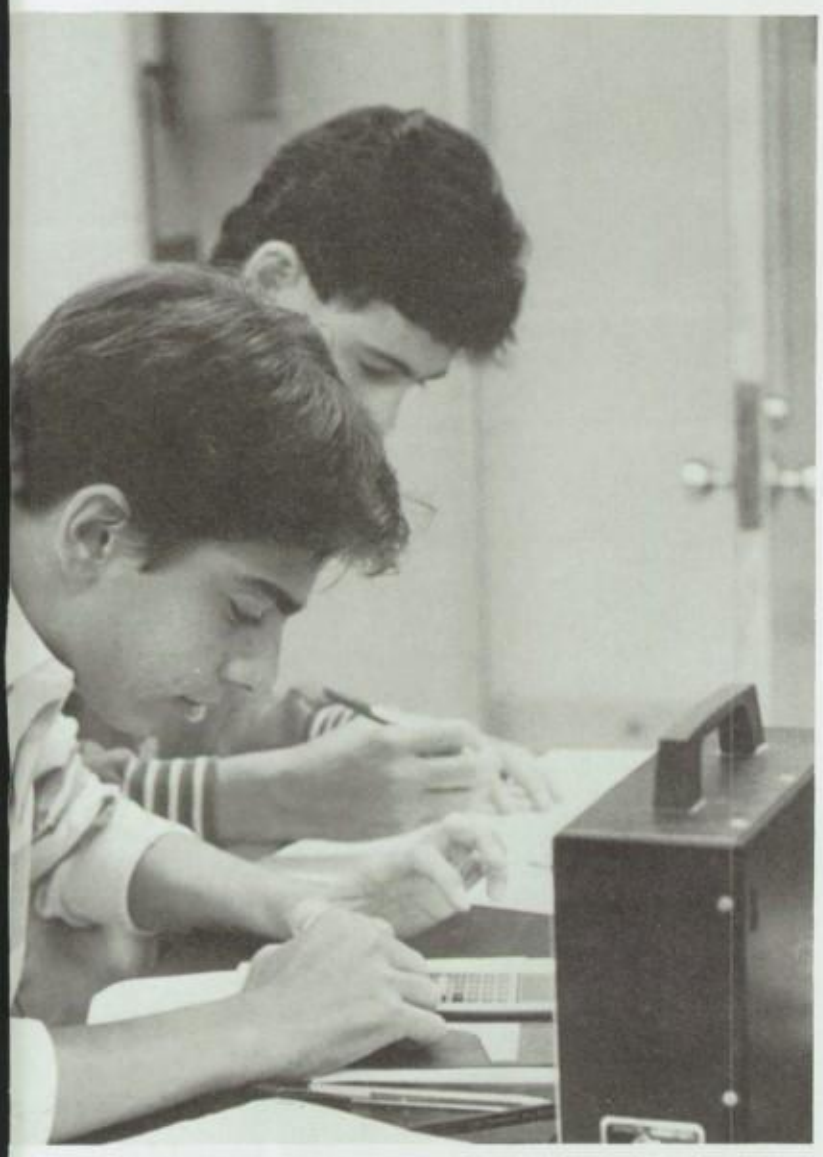
BOSTON



It's AMAZING when . . .

You don't have to wait an hour in the guidance office.

Less than fifty people occupy the Language Resource Center.

There are no guards in the parking lot.

The water fountain has cold water.

The locker room smells like roses.

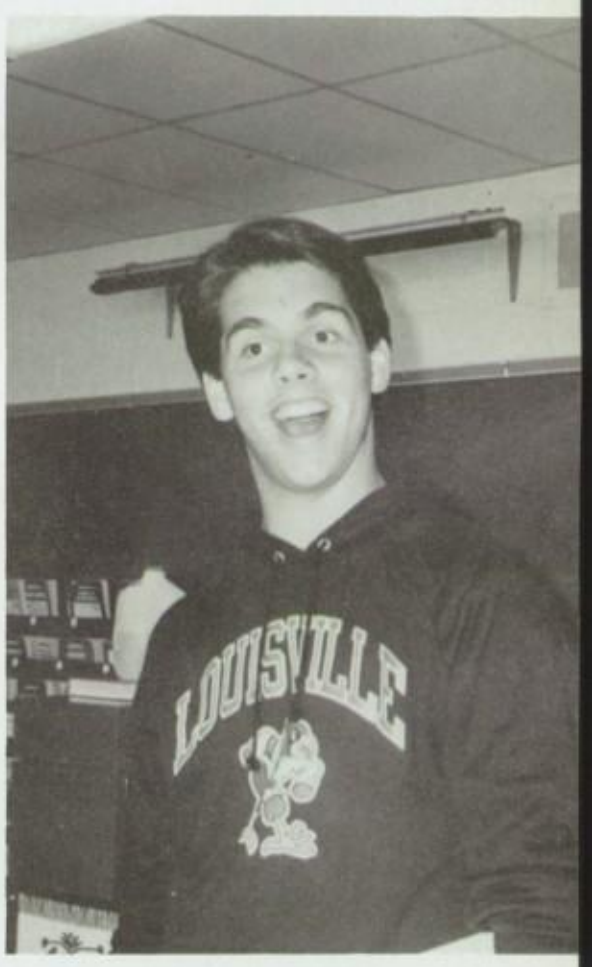
The walls in the bathroom don't have the latest gossip.

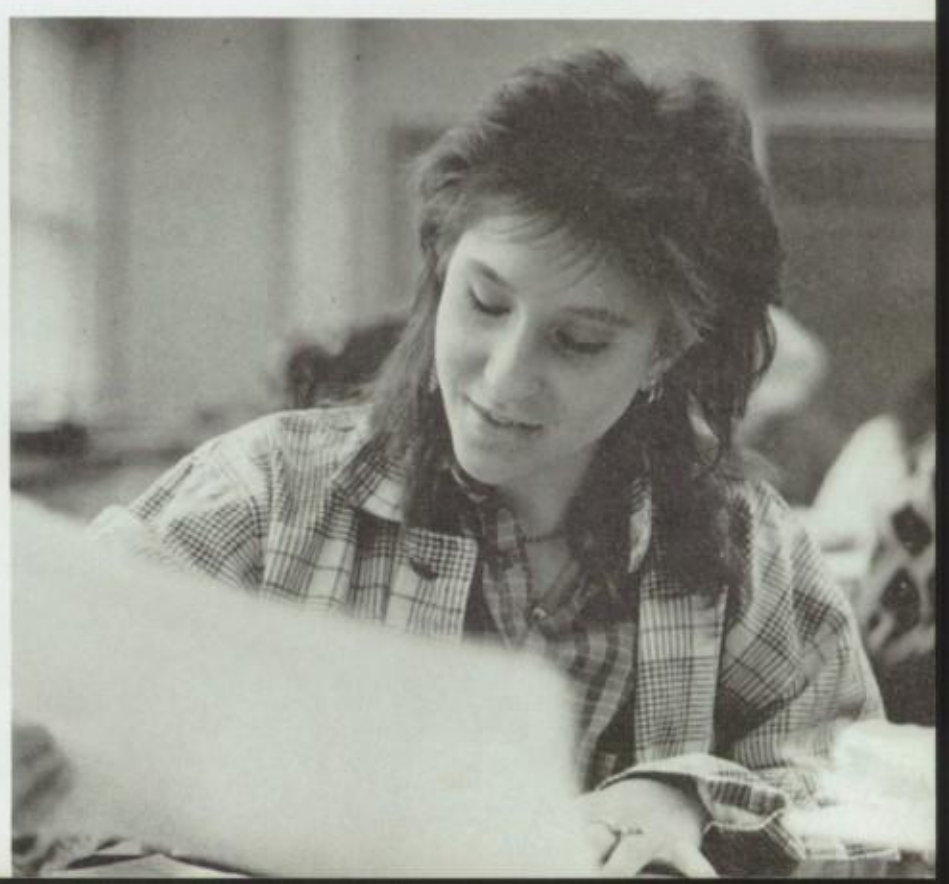
You don't get caught cutting classes by the new computer.

There aren't ten Porsches, Mercedes, BMW's, Audis, and sports cars in the students' parking lot.

You don't hyperventilate after walking the three flights of stairs.

The bathroom door is unlocked when you really have to go.





We entered through these hollow halls
Our faces lacked expression
We wondered what each day would bring
With unsure expectations
We tried to be the best we could
And stand out from the crowd
Each one with different goals in life
And different roads ahead
We traveled through each day with pride
Smiles on our faces and our heads held high
The dreams we have, the hopes we share
Will lead us right one day
For we know deep down in our minds
That success starts today.

Phil - you are the funniest. I'm really glad we're friends. Maybe we'll hang out again this summer like last year. Good luck next year. and good luck with Lauren (opps!) (Loryn). okay. Please invite me to the wedding, I'll have another use for my prom dress. I hope you get everything you want. Love ya Bubbu

P.S. I do really like your little white car. I never made fun of it!!

Phil)

Business was awesome. Never forget. 6 figures; no college. Hit it Run, and Hefty mothers, also I'll catch your Shark. Keep in touch. Take care, STEVEN ROTHSTEIN.

P.S I'm no goat.

Phil,

Its pretty sick knowing you, and going to school with you since we were little delinquents. (6th grade) when I think of you I'm sure I'll smile because you always made me laugh my ass off. There's not many people I like, but you're a good guy - and I wish you the best of luck always. I know I'll see you around again sometime in the future. When you think of Punk think of me!

Take care -

Eric Magun

Phil Bur—
You sick pupe High school wouldn't have been the same if you weren't in my Earth science class or Marine Biology. I have so many memories of you and they all make me laugh. Although we laughed a lot there were times that I saw the serious side of Phil Arthur. I don't think that many people have seen it. You're a great person. Stay that way. Best of luck.
All my love,
Carolyn

Phil,
good Luck In your future goals.
I'm gonna miss you laughing all the time etc. Social Studies was awesome,
Keep in touch,
Ho-Rachel

Phil,
Well we really haven't known each other to long but in the time we have, we've become really good friends. The prom will be great!
I'll miss you next year. No more slobering wuim in the halls-oh-well
Best luck always.
Love Lisa (whipst chains)

DEAREST Phil.

TIME IN HAMPTONS Times in the Deli. Time Forever well allways be buddies ooh NICE HUH? you were such a Dick in the Deli Dont miss you there. THANKS for being there for me. You were a, real pal but no more, bowling, we HAve to HANG out again but you like me too much your such a LOSER
You allways have such nice comments about me. I'm really glad we became friends your right! cool out to me boy
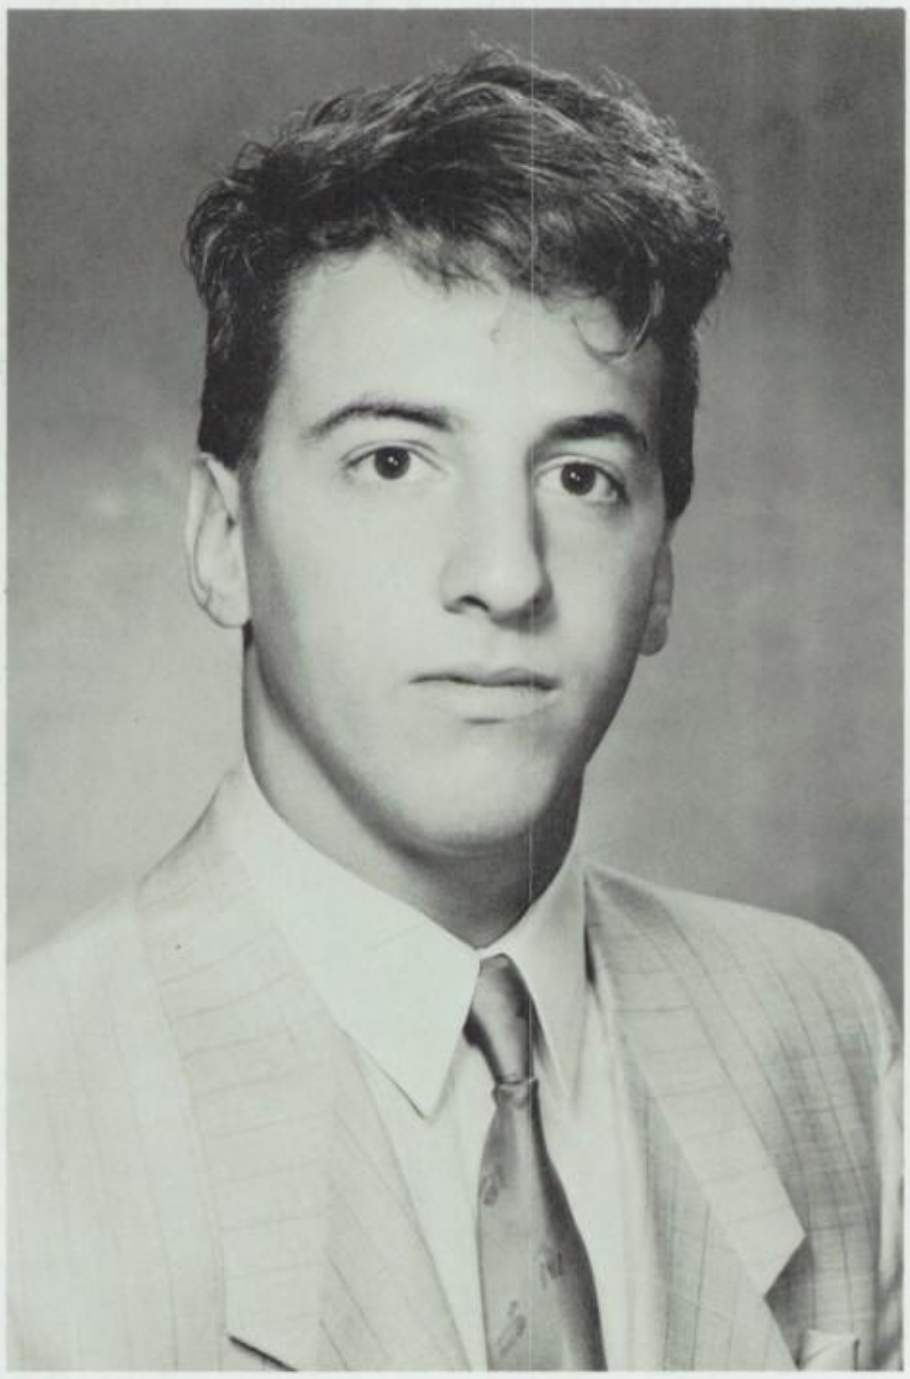
FREST still forever good luck

your friend MARK RICO
The great SPICK.

In Memoriam



Jack Atsidakos
1969 — 1987

Jack,
We'll never forget
a great friend
The special closeness . . .
All the shared memories . . .
Our brightened days . . .
Your adorable walk . . .
Ever present smile . . .
Forever a part of us
we love you still

Seemingly we have arrived at an end. The tight little streets of Bellmore and Merrick along with the hallways and classrooms of John F. Kennedy High School have provided a greenhouse atmosphere for meandering through what in retrospect will prove to be a minimaze. As we leave Kennedy, our new found freedom will see time and space in new perspectives. Yet the faces of opportunity, success and failure will reappear in guises which only the keen of mind and spirit will recognize. May we, the graduates of 1987, enter "The Super Maze" armed with the elightenment of the past as well as the hope and the determination to create a better future in the MAZE of OPPORTUNITY.

Dear Phil,
Hey, whats up? Well we haven't been friends for a long time but your a really nice guy. (I still want to go down the Delaware!) I'll see ya at the Prom. Well hang out!
Love Ya,
Laura

Dear Phil.
Remember mr fullerman? It's been class what a pissa. Its been fun this year hangin out with you and lauren. Be cool
Jodd

dear phil -
it has been great knowing you these 3 yrs. Homeroom was great with you in it - I missed it this past month. Phil I wish you good luck in all the years to come.
Love always heather

Phil,
What's up? Play werebacked great times with the boys. Drinking beers in Kennedy looking bt. Hangout at Jim's house and Ry house. Playing football for the worst coach. Going to the beach and drink more. I hope the good days coming in. Don't forget me.
Your Buddy
Joe

Philop

I had a fun time in Marketing with

XOU this year, I guess I'll see Dolock next year, Good luck

Joe

Dear Phil,

We haven't been friends too long, but the past few months we've been hanging out a lot. Hey, we're even going to the prom together. Yeah, the prom were going to have an awesome time STYLING and PROFILING in our TUXES. First, we will hit the city and then day 2 of the adventure Gurney's Inn. It should be great. Well have a great Summer, we will be hanging out together when you buy that electric blue TROC-Z. $13,000 (cheap a lot).

P.S. - This Summer we can ILL IN FOREIGN PLACES.

YOUR FRIEND,
JIMMY "THE GREEK"

EW

Phil,
It's good thing I got to know you much better this year it made busines and Stage Mags Class a whole lot better. Party Party Rudester

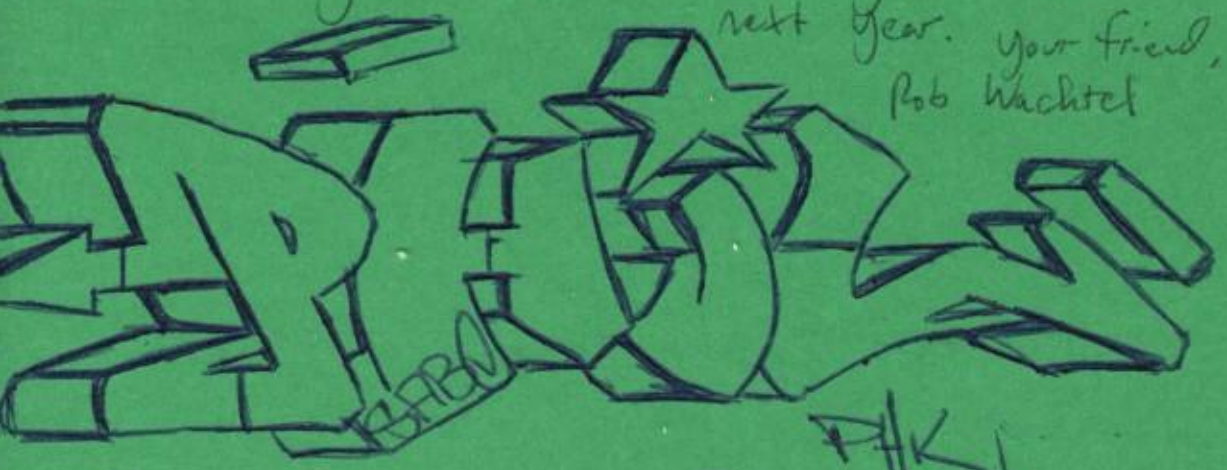
EDNIE

Dear Phil,
well school is over and college is here, do well in college & enjoy the rest of your life
Eric

Phil,

Well the year is over. I really enjoyed sitting next to you in English. I love the faces you would make every time Mrs. Molk would start with you. & when you would tell Fred to shut up. I think that both of us need serious help in English but I'm going to Nassau anyway. Have a great summer and good luck next year.

Your friend,
Rob Wachtel



PHIL, BEEN LONG? from KAREN'S to now. But what a fucken RIP. Just REMEMBER, All that's gone on, How can you forget it's on every WALL.

THAT WALDEN.

To my Philly Cream Cheese-

Thanks to Ms Wilson (martha) We've been come great friends. You're the funniest, wittest, nicest person I know. Don't ever change + keep in touch 221-4254.

I love you-

Jane (Yabsta)

cheesy hole

Dear Phil,

"The rule" Don't you love that rule. So, Anyway it's the end of 8th grade & time to move on. It was the best year of my life because I met you. Remember when we got detention for talking in class. It was all because of you. Before I met you I never got in trouble. Well I guess I'll see you next year. Be seeing you. Keep in touch & have a great summer. Best wishes to you & your family.

Your friend,
Heather

Dear Phil,

Ice Cream you since elementary school you sat next to me in Mrs. Teicher's class. You were so fun to be with then and even now. You're a great person. I wish you luck in whatever you do in the future. I'll miss ya a lot next year! I love ya

Love always,
Kellie

PS- Let's not forget Mrs. Molk's class - I can't believe we're out.

PS
good luck in the future. Keep in touch
